Popular with maniacs, crossdressing Idol "Rukiya", Usui Takito is usually a plain high school student. It's just because he likes cute things, it doesn't mean he wants to be a girl or he likes men. That's what he was thinking then one day, Takito's secret is found out by the nurse doctor, Katsuragi Ken, who's a passionate fan of Rukiya. In the course of events, they end up having sex.
Other than the main title portraying the first love of a "girl-dressed boy", this newest comics are full of romance, sex, and youthful LOVE thrown with all it's force!

Brandnew☆Star Comments from Kijima Hyougo

Miracle☆Trance

The first part of Rukiya-tan series. It all started because "I want to draw about the trending girl-dressed boy!" The title came from the image of "two people with a crazy hobby make an amazing miracle." I drew the sex scene as the main point so the characters are lacking personalities, but for me, Katsuragi-sensei is "someone who's tall, educated and has a high-spec face, but also lewd and he used to sleep around during his college days but he grew tired of women and his bad habit was cured, but when he entered his 30s he become obsessed with subculture and now he's worshipping a girl-dressed boy Rukiya-tan." In the manga I tried to sum it up in one sentence, "you're too experienced for an otaku." I'm really bad at story-making (lol). I will be very happy if you could feel my libido, not just from the school uniform with 2D-ish designs and knee-high socks, but also from the briefs and the cave-in nipples under the girl's dress.

Prince♠Panic

The title was straight from a situation of "a prince appears and everyone goes into a panic!" This too happened because "I want to draw a cliche story of how they become shaken by the appearance of a handsome guy but instead their bonds just grow stronger." In the end it became like that, but even in a cliche story, I feel like the characters develop themselves. Tokito aka Rukiya said in his monologue that "It's not like I want to be a girl, I just like cute things," but actually he makes me feel like he's some kind of rich girl. He never puts any effort into the attentions he gets for being cute, but he wants to be loved. There are parts of him that "doesn't seem right for a man," and I think a teacher who simply "loves" him is best for him. That's what I realized when I drew this chapter. About the handsome rival Kakei-kun, to my surprise there are people who say "please don't make him just a rival, I hope you can find someone for him." It really makes me feel lucky.

Brand-new♡Star

It's the story with Kakei-kun as the main character right away (lol). Kakei-kun looks like a "drag queen" rather than a "girl dressed boy." I wrote this chapter using a novel I read in the past as reference. It's about a guy who found pleasure in cross-dressing. Somehow, someone in a girl's clothes will always get checked out around the face, chest, and feet every time people walk pass them. I wonder if it's true. Girls, you can try it out yourself. (It seems like guys won't get checked out that much.)

Reverse Terrorism

A lewd athletic threesome... umm, somehow this one is so me (lol). It's really fun to draw cheerful and healthy boys who love sex! Those tan lines are really irresistible! Anyhow, I'm just so happy to draw a lot of butts!

Serifect!

I wrote this one as my opposition to the people who threaten the publishing business. But my feelings jumped the gun and it didn't sublime. This is really hard... It's different from what I intended at first, but I think I made Ryousoku-kun's character to be so cute, and I'm satisfied with that. But from now on he's going to have a lot of hard times because of Shinoda who easily falls in love with people. Maybe he will put down a speech in front of everybody every time he got hurt after suspecting Shinoda being unfaithful.

Shall I give it to you?!

Another stuff about otaku. I'm sorry. It's really easy to draw because I'm a hardcore otaku myself (lol). Maybe I just wanted to draw a gross character who drools too much. Tanuma Ruchiru's (real name) parents are both otaku, so since the day he was born he was educated as an otaku out-and-out, and that's the reason for his unique name and anime hairstyle. His parents took the troubles of choosing the kanji for his name*, but in the manga nobody even called his first name... that's really regretful. Akiyoshi-kun likes the commercial BL with beautiful arts and delicate sad stories, while Ruchiru likes bad boy uke, yankee uke, everything a manga can offer him. They still can't agree on this matter even after they started dating.

*Ruchiru's name is written with "流 ru" meaning flowing "千 chi" meaning thousand and "瑠 ru" from "瑠璃色" meaning Lapis lazuli blue.

Rejoice One!

"There aren't many pages left so let's draw anything you wanted series" part two. I had so much fun drawing, and the reactions I got wasn't so bad (lol) so it's my favorite work. By the way, the hosts are the main characters for the comedy manga I wrote for another company. The a○oh-like judges were my editor's idea, but I enjoyed drawing it so much everything break loose right from the emcee. Do they really do this kind of show every week? The clean-up seems tough.

Thank you for your purchase
It's that time of the year so I tried drawing something Halloween-ish even though it has nothing to do with the main story lol
I hope you had fun reading this book!
